The kidnapping of two twin babies in the 90s gives rise to a perfectly plotted conspiracy. A group of scientists who have remained in the shadows ever since Nazi Germany was defeated design a method capable of inciting the demoralised masses. Using the largest particle accelerator ever imagined, a genuine cathedral of science, these psychopaths aim to revive the German National Socialist ideology, erstwhile originator of so much brutality and terror. The Higgs boson, the famous 'God's Particle,' was not the philosopher's stone that some leading lights in the scientific community were trying to find. The discovery of another particle that would mean a change of direction for humanity was in actual fact the basis for a plan for world domination of enormous proportions and unforeseeable consequences.
